FINHAM PRIMARY SCHOOL NEWSLETTER

Dear Parents,

We have had an exciting week meeting our new teachers and starting to think about next year. Year 6 came back from their secondary schools full of all the amazing things they will be doing and it was lovely to see the children throughout the school talking so excitedly about their new classes. Transition and Change is always a difficult time in any walk of life, the unknown feels unsafe and we naturally look back to what we know and hope it will be alright. Preparing our children and helping them through this is one of the most important life skills we can give them so that they go through life embracing new opportunity and change with a pro-active, positive attitude. (Easier to write than do but none the less important.)

So back to the last 12 school days....

We've still lots of exciting things planned for the next few weeks.

Next week, you will be getting your end of year reports and will have the opportunity to see how much work your children have been doing and how much progress they have made. Year 2 and Year 6 will be getting their SAT's results included in these reports. We will also be trialling a new 'Values' report where we will be letting you know how the children have been getting on with our 5 core values; Teamwork, Respect, Integrity, Discipline and Enjoyment.

As always, if you have any questions about any of these things, please feel free to see the teachers or me and Mrs. Bracken - we are all here to help!

Have a wonderful weekend.

Kindest regards

Richard Machin
Headteacher
